

Easingwold and District Choral Traditions 1903 – 2012 is the story of 109 years of choral singing in Easingwold and is told by focusing on the life and times of the conductors and some of the presidents. Various personalities who were kind enough to contribute or enhance the story as it unfolds, are also included.

The story also brings in the background of what life may have been like for the local people of Easingwold, and the nation, during this period. Additionally, one family has been followed through four generations, and their story is told in parallel to those events that directly influence the ambience of choral singing and its survival.

Available From

John Morgan
2 Stonefield Garth
Easingwold
YO61 3NW

Tel: 01347 824 110

Or order online at www.ypdbooks.com

Price: £17.50

The book contains speculation, fact, romance, drama, pathos and sadness as it travels through the passage of time in Easingwold and some of the surrounding districts of Yorkshire's North Riding. It also includes a record of the music that was performed during this period.